I wish to express myself on the picture of the ghetto girls in the Belleville Enterprise.

I do not believe this was meant to be a racist thing as your caller has taken it. I do not think it was insulting. There are many different types of trash and this wasn't one of them, because in today's society all teens are wanting to dress like this. Whether they are African, Hispanic, white, or any other race, it is just today's teenagers wanting to fit in.

For white trash, I think that is a little different than the ghetto thing. Ghetto can be defined a few different ways, it could be a good thing, and it could be a bad thing, but I think the girls in the picture didn't mean it in a bad way.

As a matter of fact, I know it wasn't an insult because one of the girls in the picture was my daughter and a good friend of hers and they are good girls. It wasn't meant the way it was taken.

Halloween ghetto costumes were about style, says mother

I want to respond to the Sound Off caller who was offended about the ghetto girl Halloween costumes and who asked what people would have thought if African-Americans had dressed up as white trash.

Having been raised in Detroit, I know that there are plenty of Caucasians in that atmosphere. Would this person have been less offended if they had said "gang bangers"?

It doesn't matter what the color is. You can be in ghetto attire if you white, green, yellow or blue.

This person should stop being so anal because it's not a color thing. It's an environment one.

Clients scramble to save health center

By STEFANIE CARANO
MCN Special Writer

Students, parents and workers at Romulus Adolescent Health Services received quite a shock when they were notified that the clinic would be forced to close its doors December 7.

Due to enormous debt in the state government, legislators are closing the clinic and other similar facilities to help slash costs and alleviate the impending deficit. The majority of the clinic's funds come from the state.

"Just last year they voted to double the budget," says Sherry Nelson, nurse practitioner.

The health care facility located at Romulus High School, assists students in everything from unplanned pregnancies to work study skills. For students whose parents have jobs that they cannot take time away from, the clinic is a tremendous help. Without the clinic, students with illnesses like the flu or bronchitis would have to go back to class if their parents could not be reached.

In 1989 a health care worker brought the issue of having a clinic in the high school to the Romulus School Board. The superintendent of the school board and principal of the high school at the time were very enthusiastic about the idea. The clinic opened in 1990 with a grant from the state of Michigan.

It is a partnership between the Michigan Department of Community Health, the Romulus Board of Education and Oakwood Health Care.

"It's a shame because the school and hospitals have turned out to be good partners," says Diane Vidovic, who manages the clinic.

Romulus Adolescent Health is looking for long-term solutions at the state level.

Ex-client Melissa Mc Daniel, who benefited greatly from the clinic has formed a group called "Adolescent Care Threatened" or A.C.T. Now. A.C.T. Now is seeking short-term charitable funds from local businesses and so far have raised 13,000 dollars. Unfortunately, this is not enough to sustain the needs of the clinic.

"Around the nation, school-based health centers are flourishing. The politics of today may lead to increased teen suicides, increased teen pregnancies, increased school violence and decreased care for health conditions that impact these adolescent's ability to learn," says Mc Daniel in a recent press release.

The clinic emphasizes that they do have the support of local legislators, including Mayor Lambert.

On November 27, they held a press conference for community leaders as well as students and parents to discuss the need for the health service to remain at the high school.

Two programs that will continue at the high school would be a sexual assault program and an anti-smoking program. The sexual assault program speaks to high school freshmen about sexual abuse awareness and date rape drugs.

Princess Walker is another ex-client of Romulus Adolescent Health. She came to the clinic when she thought she might be pregnant. The clinic confirmed her pregnancy and gave her emotional support. They helped her confront her family about the pregnancy and answered questions and concerns that she had.

Walker, now with a healthy boy named Martell, visits the clinic often and is very grateful for the help she received. Her participation in a mentor program with Romulus Adolescent Health inspired her to be active in program called "City Year", a service project in Detroit.

With this program, Walker gets free baby-sitting and a stipend of 100 dollars a week. She will then receive a 4,500-dollar scholarship to college when she completes the program and it all started with the clinic.

Another ex-client Eryn Moody was a peer educator for the clinic when she realized that she herself needed counseling. She received family counseling through the clinic and eventually was counseled to deal with her cerebral palsy.

Romulus Adolescent Health will close unless action is taken soon.

They are scrambling for funds and are in need of immediate help. Those who wish to help may contact Melissa McDaniel at: (734) 941-1400.

Pre-trial delayed because two witnesses fail to show

By STEFANIE CARANO
MCN Special Writer

Two witnesses scheduled to testify in court for the pre-trial of the Walter Cunningham murder case did not appear, forcing Judge Brian Oakley to move the preliminary examination date.

Witnesses Henry Pittman and Kwame Bufkin were missing during the scheduled preliminary examination of the People vs. William Koss, at the 34th district court. Pittman had received a subpoena from Wayne County Prosecutor William Rollstin.

William Koss, who is being held in Wayne County Jail, is charged with first-degree murder for the death of Walter Cunningham who was killed in his apartment on October 31.

Spokesperson Sean Kosofsky for the Triangle Foundation, a gay rights organization believes the murder to be a hate crime because Cunningham was a homosexual and allowed Koss into his apartment, possibly expecting a sexual encounter.

Prosecutor Rollstin thinks the witnesses may have tried to flee, their testimony being important to the case. Judge Oakley decided to move the date while the witnesses are being tracked down.

The preliminary examination for the People vs. William Koss will take place November 28.

Lloyd Ward, brother of Romulus Board of Education trustee Cheryle Ward Buckley, and a former resident of Romulus, was recently appointed the Chief Executive Officer and Secretary General for the United States Olympic Committee (USOC).

Ward, a member of the class of 1966, attended Michigan State University on a basketball scholarship and eventually became captain of the Spartan basketball team in his senior year.

He then began a fast track executive career that culminated in a leading executive position at Proctor and Gamble and the CEO position at Maytag Corporation.

Ward also recently became a member of the famed and prestigious Augusta National Golf Club, home of the Masters Golf Tournament.

The USOC job came only after a strenuous interviewing process. After meeting with USOC's seven member search committee on several occasions, he was invited to a series of four meetings with the twenty member executive board.

Then September 11th happened. Ward recall how he went home and discussed the situation with his wife, Lisa.

He asked her, "do we really want to do this?"

Her reply, "It is time for special people to do special things. Let's go for it!"

With the 2002 Winter Olympic Games coming to Salt Lake City in a year, Ward knew, if he were successful in getting the job, it would require a tremendous amount of work. He also knew that he would have to move his family from Florida to Colorado Springs.

Ward's final presentation to the executive committee was so impressive that he earned the confidence and compliments of officials who awarded him the position over an earlier "favored son."

One of Ward's many duties is heading up all security arrangements for the Winter Games.

He noted, "There will be 3,650 athletes in competition and over 9,000 security people involved. Believe me when I say the Olympics will be the most secure place in the world..."

His vision for the Olympics includes a stronger financial base, that depends largely on corporate donations. "Our athletes are sent to the Games by Americans, not the American government," he reminds the business community.

Beyond the USOC appointment, Ward is especially proud of his invitation to join Augusta National.

He recalled the special ceremony where he was given his "green jacket." And then shortly after he was in the first foursome that teed off the day after Tiger Woods had won the Masters this year.

"It was a magical day," recalls Ward, "walking down the fairways with the tall pines on both sides. The golf course was so pristine, an experience of a lifetime."

Ward encourages the youth of Romulus to use his example as an inspiration. "I am living the American dream and all the children in Romulus need to know that this is possible for them. If they work hard, study, get good grades and excel at their special interests, they can accomplish major feats in life."

Parent Greeters

Middle School Secretary Lynn Webb (left) and Special Education Department Teacher Suzanne Snyder welcomed parents to the fall parent-teacher conferences held last week at Romulus Schools. The conference promoted a Thanksgiving theme with many of the hallways and school rooms decorated extensively.

Dick elected Board president

On Monday night, the Romulus Board of Education elected Debbie Dick to take over as president for Alan Lambert, who resigned after being elected Mayor.

Dick, who was vice-president, will serve in her new capacity for the remainder of the school year. Billy McCraight was elected vice-president; Betty Lenossi, secretary; and Cheryle Buckley, treasurer.

Westland voters are right — time to put pressure on CWCSA

In speaking to the WAYNE EAGLE last week, Wayne City Manager John Zech said he thought Westland voters were confused when they voted to reject renewal millage for the Central Wayne County Sanitation Authority.

I, most respectfully disagree. We have rant and raved on these editorial pages to get the issue on the Westland ballot, and then we asked voters to reject the renewal. Others, like mayoral candidate, Richard LeBlanc were just as vociferous on the campaign trail. Westland voters, for the most part, know exactly why they voted no.

They voted "no" because they are paying nearly four times the cost of burying their trash in landfills. Voters do not need to be rocket scientists to figure out that this is a bad deal. The CWCSA incinerator, propped up by the taxpayers of participating communities—Westland, Wayne, Inkster, Garden City and Dearborn Heights—benefits only the private company, Baltimore Gas and Electric, that owns the operation.

Of course the argument against thumbing our noses at the incinerator, is that we are bound by contract. A long term contract, I must say that legally demands that we must dispose our trash at the incinerator at the rip-off rate.

And most of the consortium cities like Wayne, Inkster, etc. believe the proper course of action is to honor that contract. Zech, in speaking out on behalf of the CWCSA, said, "Westland has a contractual and legal obligation to the Incinerator Authority....If they don't (abide by the contract) there will be lawsuits. You can be sure on that."

Opponents like LeBlanc, and to a lesser degree, Wayne councilperson and former mayor, Robert Dickerson, say bring on the lawsuits. They point to other communities that have successfully broken their deals with incinerators.

A better approach, however, than instigating lawsuits, might be for the principals—Westland which pays 40% of the tab, representatives from the other cities, and the Baltimore Gas and Electric company, sit down to talk about alternatives.

Certainly we all understand a contract is a contract, but when the will of the people says enough is enough and we are tired of being "hosed," there is a legitimate reason to either reduce the rates being charged or to look to landfills to handle our trash needs.

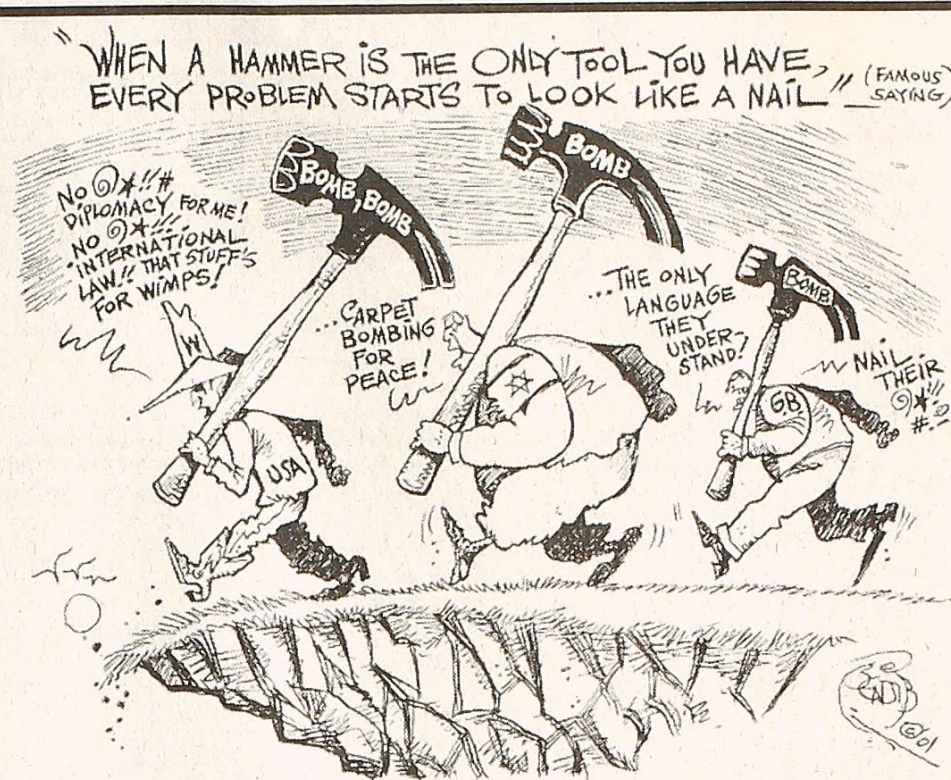

I will agree with Zech when he says the new Westland administration is going to have to clear up the controversy. Job one for Mayor Sandra Cicirelli's cabinet is to deal with this nasty paradox: How do you appease the majority of Westland voters who oppose paying the millage, and abiding by a contract that the past administration legally have bounded the City to?

Let's see what happens. But I, as the voters of Westland would expect, a legitimate attempt to negotiate a reduction in price for all the CWCSA partners.

Mike's musings

Reward color-blind workers

No I don't have a crystal ball. I didn't have an inside source. I'm not lucky.

Last week's prediction that the Canton Township Board would reverse itself and officially place Martin Luther King Jr. above George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and Christopher Columbus was easy.

Just as easy as predicting that most township workers will now have to undergo "diversity" training on Martin Luther King Jr. Day instead serving the public — at a cost of $40,000 in lost productivity.

Both calls were easy because the township board is as predictable as a cuckoo clock.

While I have always supported declaring Martin Luther King Day an official local holiday in municipalities that honor national heroes, I didn't support it in Canton, which not only had no such policy, but has not created one. Without a policy, it's obvious that the decision was a knee-jerk reaction to a special interest group, not a thoughtful application of a coherent policy to honor great Americans.

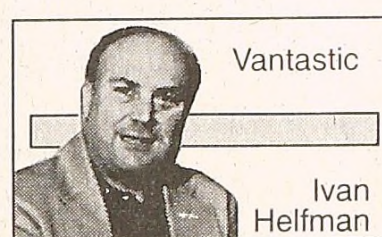

While nobody would dispute King's national hero status as a civil rights martyr, it demeans his memory to receive an affirmative-action recognition created to ease board members' white guilt for their relatively segregated city.

Creating a day for King and not one for the Father of our Country is comparable to a corporation creating a token job for a qualified black person.

Since King devoted and sacrificed his life for, among other things, ending tokenism, why give him a token holiday?

Why not set a local holiday policy and establish a selection criterion for national heroes? That way, the selection of honorees would make sense. And the resulting holidays would launch celebrations, not "diversity" training days.

This last point concerns the most for three reasons. First, a national hero should be celebrated, if not loved. For years Columbus, initiator of the Age of Exploration, was honored with long parades.

Vantastic

Ivan Helfman

The floats, the bands, and the beauty queens flowing past spectators, vendors, and organ grinders' monkeys created a day of patriotic joy. Though national heroes deserve celebrations, all Canton will give King is dreary "diversity" seminars.

Second, the last thing Canton's workers need is "diversity" training. Assuming that "diversity" training was useful, the last people who need it are Canton's workers. Though the fact has been obscured in the haste of the knee-jerk reaction, as of last year, Earl Truss, president of the Western Wayne County NAACP told me that no racial-related complaints had been filed against Canton.

In other words, evidence of racial discrimination by Canton's workers does not exist.

So why train them in "diversity"? Or better yet, why not instead give them bonuses for being Western Wayne County's most color-blind municipal workers?

Third, America's melting pot makes "diversity" training impossible. This is because it takes two or, at most, three generations for immigrants to assimilate. While some first generation immigrants may not speak English, almost all second generation immigrants do. By the third generation, family members are likely to wear backwards baseball caps or expose their tattoos with Britney Spears tops.

If anybody needs training about Martin Luther King Day and official holiday policies, it's township board members.

First, the township must be trained not to base policies on selective reasoning. In his rationale for recommending King Day, Supervisor Tom Yack said that it "would align Canton with many other governments." What Yack missed is that the other governments recognize Columbus or Presidents' Days.

Second, the township must base policy on reality. Canton is not too diverse. It's a mostly white, mostly Christian suburb. Demographically, Canton can be expected to become more racially mixed in line with the national trend.

But — and here's where the township board needs training — high immigration rates are making the country, now 93 percent Christian, more Christian instead of less.

What's happening is that Christian Latinos and Asians are expected to make up the bulk of immigration. By 2050, the number of Latinos is expected to reach 100 million.

"We cannot be too certain whether they will be chiefly Catholic or Pentecostal, but it is a virtual certainty that they will not be attending mosques or Taoist temples," wrote Phillip Jenkins. "Then as now, Latinos will overwhelmingly be Christian. And so, perhaps surprisingly, will be the bulk of the Asian population."

Just as township board members needs a national hero holiday policy in line with America if they want joyous celebrations instead of dreary seminars, they need a holiday policy in line with an increasingly Christian nation if they don't want to make the same mistake as prewar Germany.

Just as the township board has substituted abstract reindeer for a Christmas creche at town hall, Nazi Germany substituted Julfest, a pagan holiday, for Christmas. (The Soviet Union merely banned Christmas, substituting dreary Marxist training.)

Among the many things we lost when a madman's bullet took King's life was the great minister who led the Civil Rights Movement from his pulpit.

Not only could he have taught Canton board members the value of celebrating more than one national hero, he could have even taught them how to have a merry Christmas and how to reward their workers for spreading joy and goodwill to all.

City officials routinely break laws

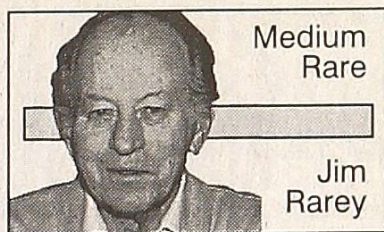

There is an old saying with which most of us are familiar that, "ignorance of the law is no excuse." In other words, just because you didn't know the law existed, doesn't exempt you from prosecution and punishment, or does it?

There is a variation of that axiom that quite often (too often) is used as a successful defense against minor violations of the law. That is "Your honor, there was no criminal intent." Often, that will get a charge dismissed or in some cases convince the prosecutor not file charges in the first place.

In this writer's opinion, that defense is a subterfuge to allow prosecutors and judges to exercise favoritism for certain violators and/or violations.

A case in point is violations of the Michigan Open Meetings Act by public officials.

Technical violations by public officials are hardly ever prosecuted unless a resident can show that he or she was "harmed" by the violation. The officials themselves usually claim they did not realize the action or failure to act was a violation of the statute. Try that with a traffic citation (a revenue producer for the city) as see how far you get.

Medium Rare

Every public official, whether elected or appointed, should be required to read the statute and sign a paper attesting to the fact that he or she has read it. Then "ignorance" cannot be claimed.

However, a little known fact is that the state Attorney General issues opinions (interpretations) of the statute that have the force of law until overturned by the courts or the legislature.

While many of the opinions are technical (minor) in perspective, they all comply with the stated objective of the statute, which is to maximize the public's access to what its government is doing.

At a council meeting, have you ever seen one council member lean over to another and whisper something? That's a violation of one of the recent rulings by our current Attorney General Jennifer Granholm.

When notice of a special meeting (not regularly scheduled) is posted, it is usually put on a bulletin board inside of city hall. Nothing wrong with that but it does not meet the requirement of proper notice per an Attorney General's (Frank Kelly) opinion. Such notices must be available to the public for at least a continuous 24-hour period.

Putting it on a bulletin board inside a building, which is locked at night or over the weekend, does not satisfy that requirement.

Call in "nit picking", which most officials do, but there is a reason for each of these rulings and that is to have a fully informed public.

It is time to do more nitpicking. They can claim ignorance the first time, but after that there would be grounds for prosecution.

SOUND OFF EXTRA

Caller complains about board member conflicts, residences

Is there any truth to the rumor that school board member Billy McCraight no longer is a resident of Romulus? Isn't it true that you have to be a resident of Romulus to be on the Romulus Board of Education? [You have to live in the Romulus school district, not the city — Ed.]

Just paying taxes on property owned in Romulus is not qualification enough. He should resign immediately.

Frankly speaking, I think that if Ken Berlin gets back on the school board, he should resign from Wayne County RESA, the intermediate school district [Berlin lost].

In my opinion, being on both boards is a conflict of interest. I cite the proposed $62 million "special education" millage for the county. He supports any and all increases to taxpayers, and supports taxpayer-financed bonuses for retiring administrators and secretaries, for example.

Hang on to your purses, Romulus taxpayers, here they come!

How many more of the old are we to see in government?

Westland Planning Commissioner Andy Spisak donated money to Mayor-elect Sandy Cicirelli's campaign. Does that mean he bought a job? How many more of the old people are we going to see?

Sandy had the backing of police and fire. What did she promise them for their votes? Here we go: more unmarked cars that can go home, and more gas for the city employees for their deer hunting trips.

And, oh yeah, where does it say a policeman can go and check his mail with a marked car? It happens everyday on Blackfoot, between Wildwood and Mohawk. This marked car is there often in an eight-hour shift. Does he think we are paying him for patrolling the block he lives on?

No longer a 'recall bunch,' only individuals with complaints

Dear fellow Sound Off readers. This is regarding Westland politics.

There is no longer a "recall bunch."

There are several individuals who continue to come to meetings who were supportive in one way or another of the recall of 2000. That does not mean that anybody that has a gripe is part of the "recall bunch" or that there is even in any kind of a group anymore.

For once, instead of painting people with one broad brush, why not try and listen to the complaints and constructive comments brought forward by many of these community activists.

Heck how many of the candidates ran on issues raised by citizens over the last couple of years?

There is plenty more of house-cleaning needed at City Hall, even after Mayor Bob Thomas and others retire.

Help me recover heirlooms

To the editor:

Within the last three or four months, following the passing of Ruth Vogler, my grandmother, a great number of cherished family memories were stolen from the estate and sold.

We suspect that these possessions were advertised through the classified sections of area papers. The family would be forever grateful for any help that would result in the finding of these beloved heirlooms.

The ads may have contained any of the following information: antique furniture, china cabinet, Christmas ornaments, bird houses, china, rockwell plates, silver, buffet, table and chairs, figurines, marble top table, clocks, cuckoo clock, or toys

The location may have been: 25500 Middle Belt Rd., Flat Rock or Huron Township. Some effects may have been sold from an address on Bell Road, New Boston.

Keep tabs on aliens

To the editor:

We now know that we have thousands of card carrying VISA students, teachers, laborers — whatever — both legal and illegal in our midst and the government doesn't know who they are, where they are and what they're doing. And so the rush is on to find them and to filling a critical gap in our system especially in time of war. This, of course, will take years and we don't have that kind of time.

I have a solution which may or may not be acceptable but a solution nevertheless and, at least, it's one more than I've heard so far.

There should be a call sent out that all VISA holders regardless of what capacity and intent in this country and all illegal aliens would be given 30 days notice to report in to prescribed centers where at the least a data base can be started. Those who do not belong here should be deported. Other stays or deportations may depend on the various criteria developed.

Anyone who does not report within the 30-day allotment period and is caught later through the normal channels may be considered one who has reason to hide and not report and may also be considered as one who is not out to do our country any good.

An estimate of 80% reporting means that there is a reasonable figure of 20% with whom we must catch up. A far cry from where we are today and a reasonable figure with which to work.

We are at war, you know, and there really isn't that much time.

Sincerely,
George M. Haddad

Holiday shoppers are too aggressive

Hi everyone,

The Nightmare-Before-Christmas stories are already surfacing. On Friday, Nov. 22, the day after Thanksgiving, which is also the busiest day of the year for retail sales, a patron at the local Westland K-Mart on Wayne Road reported that she had been "knocked down" by another woman who just had to have a certain porcelain doll.

This reminded me of another anger-filled event that happened in San Jose, California, a few years ago. A man, eager to get on with his Christmas shopping, tired of circling the Valley Fair Mall parking lot and decided that he was no longer going to compete with the other motorists. What his solution? He shot someone for a parking spot!

My Curt said that some people seem to have missed the whole concept of Christmas. You know, the Peace and Good Will stuff. I agree, as I leave you with a question: Are material gifts THAT important?

AUDIENCE (Non-Agenda Items): A resident from the Willow Garden [Quirk-Subdivision] Sub Concerns Committee expressed concerns regarding the Wal-Mart development related to the berm, easements and litter. Supervisor King stated she will inform Director Kelley and he will contact the committee to address these issues.

The President of Southwestern Wayne Democratic Club invited the elected officials to a holiday party on Thursday, November 29th at 6:00 p.m. He also stated a proposal has been made to remove Van Buren Township and the City of Belleville from the 34th District Court and put both communities in the 35th District Court. Supervisor King stated that she, Mayor Fielder from the City of Belleville and 34th District Court Chief Judge Brooks-Green traveled to Lansing to speak before a Joint Meeting of the House Committee on Civil Law and Judiciary and the Senate Committee on Judiciary about this proposal. She stated a letter signed by the Van Buren Township Board and Belleville City Council outlines the history of the 34th District Court, the communities that comprise the 34th District Court and problems removing Van Buren Township and Belleville would create for all five of the communities currently in the 34th District Court. She further stated the five communities that currently make up the 34th District Court made sense when created and still makes sense today and strongly opposes the proposed change. Further, Van Buren Township shares no community of interests with Canton, Plymouth and Northville. However, the Tri-Communities of Van Buren Township, City of Belleville and Sumpter Township along with the City of Romulus and Huron Township do have many joint ventures. This Township Board strongly opposes the proposed change in the 34th District Court.

A resident of Charter Club Estates expressed concerns regarding the installation of streetlights, signage, litter and construction debris, street maintenance, sidewalk related issues and building concerns in his subdivision. Supervisor King restated that township officials are willing to meet with homeowner to seek positive resolution to these matters.

EXECUTIVE SESSION: None.

ADJOURNMENT: Jahr moved, Herman seconded to adjourn at 9:17 p.m. Carried.

Respectfully submitted,

Joannie D. Payne,
CMC Township Clerk

Will 'Sweet 16' be sweet 4th time around?

Belleville wraps up 4th regional title, reaches quarter-finals

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Kevin Edwards has had phenomenal success with the Belleville High girls' basketball team.

During his four-year-stint as coach, Edwards' teams have won four consecutive district, regional championships and Tuesday night made their fourth straight appearance in the state quarterfinals, affectionately known as "Sweet 16". (May be sweet to the winner, but it is a bitter pill to the losers.

And, at Eastpointe High School, Edwards and his Tigers drew none other than undefeated

Detroit King, who happens to be the defending state champ and has been ranked No. 1 in Michigan from start and some say will be at the finish of the 2001 campaign.

The winner of the Belleville-Detroit King quarterfinal will advance to Friday's semifinal round of the Michigan High School Athletic Association's playoffs.

The semis will to be staged Friday at Central Michigan University in Mount Pleasant. The state championship is the following day.

Edwards, a former basketball star in his own right, and a protégé of one of the area's great coaches, Tom Niemi, knows that his Tigers are in for a battle.

"They beat us last year," said Edwards, before boarding a bus to Eastpointe.

"They have a lot of experience and, well, hey their rating (No. 1) says it all. They are No. 1 and the road to Mount Pleasant goes through Detroit King. You got to beat them to get there - that's all there is to it."

Edwards says no matter what happens Tuesday night, the 2001 Belleville High team will go down in the books "as one of the greatest."

"There is exceptional talent on the team, talent exemplified by Crystal Steward, a 5-5 senior who has already signed her letter of intent to enroll at Rider University in New Jersey.

Steward has been the inspirational leader on the floor, and also the leading scorer and playmaker.

Courtney Ivan is also a center attraction. A 6-0 senior who has been "the force" under and around the boards, Ivan has been a terror on opponents using the lanes to get to the hoops.

Would you believe that during their basketball careers at Belleville High, Steward and Ivan have chalked up an incredible 92-9 won-lost record, which includes three Mega-Red Championships; four district and regional titles and four appearances in the state quarterfinals?

Edwards usually rounds out his starting five with Amatha Combs, a three year starter who is a 5-7 junior; Alyssa Montalvo, a 5-9 junior forward; and Andryra Olden, a 5-8 senior.

Also seeing a lot of action this season are Kelli Howse, a 5-5 junior guard; Lisa Debuck, a 5-8 junior forward, along with Tiffany Clark, a 5-8 senior and Tia Lewis, a 5-0 freshman who has earned varsity status through her aggressive-style of play.

While Detroit King was busy removing always tough Livonia Ladywood from the playoffs, in the regional finals, a game that the Detroiters won handily, 62-31, Belleville set up the rematch by winning its regional at the expense of the old Prospectors from Detroit Southwestern, 48-34.

Belleville broke open a close game with the Detroiters - it was 19-15 at half in Belleville's favor - by scoring eight unanswered points in the opening minutes of the third period. Steward led all scorers with 21 points, while Ivan again showed she is one of the best rebounders in the state as she nailed 17 rebounds and tossed in eight points. Combs also added eight.

Belleville took a 22-3 record into the "Sweet 16" rematch with King; King has won all 24 of its games this season.

Robichaud guard is selected to All - Mega Gold

Although she missed most of the 2001 basketball season due to an ankle injury, Mary Riley impressed the coaches in the Mega Conference Gold Division.

The coaches unanimously picked Riley, a 5-7 Robichaud sophomore guard who is a dead-eye from three-point range and can go to the hoop with the best of them, as a member of the 2001 All-Mega Conference, Gold Division Team.

Riley scored in double digits in her nine appearances this season, but her value to the Bulldogs was more than her shooting. Her presence made the difference in winning or losing, according to her coach.

"With Riley in the lineup, we were contenders," said Robichaud coach Warren Woods, after the Bulldogs dispatched Dearborn Heights Crestwood, the division's co-champs, into the loss column. "If we would have had her for the entire season, it would have made a big difference.

The all-division team is selected by the division's coaches. The lineup is made up of the best talents from Robichaud, Highland Park, River Rouge, Crestwood, Annapolis and Carlson.

Also named to the Mega-Gold squad are Carlson's Andrea Coleman; Highland Park's Laketta Randall, her sister Nykoya Randall; Rouge's Ashley McDowell; Carlson's Kathie Loozelt; Annapolis's Laura Deegan and Katie Schweiger, and Annapolis's Beth Trybaski and Rose Buchanan.

Annapolis and Crestwood shared the 2001 Mega-Gold championship.

They're finally here

There's a saying that good things happen and come to those with patience.

And, apparently, that's the best way to describe and explain the delay in the 38th annual All-Area High School Football Team, promised to our readers this week.

We're sorry for the inconvenience.

And we know that there has been some inconvenience as reflected in the phone calls staffers have been receiving.

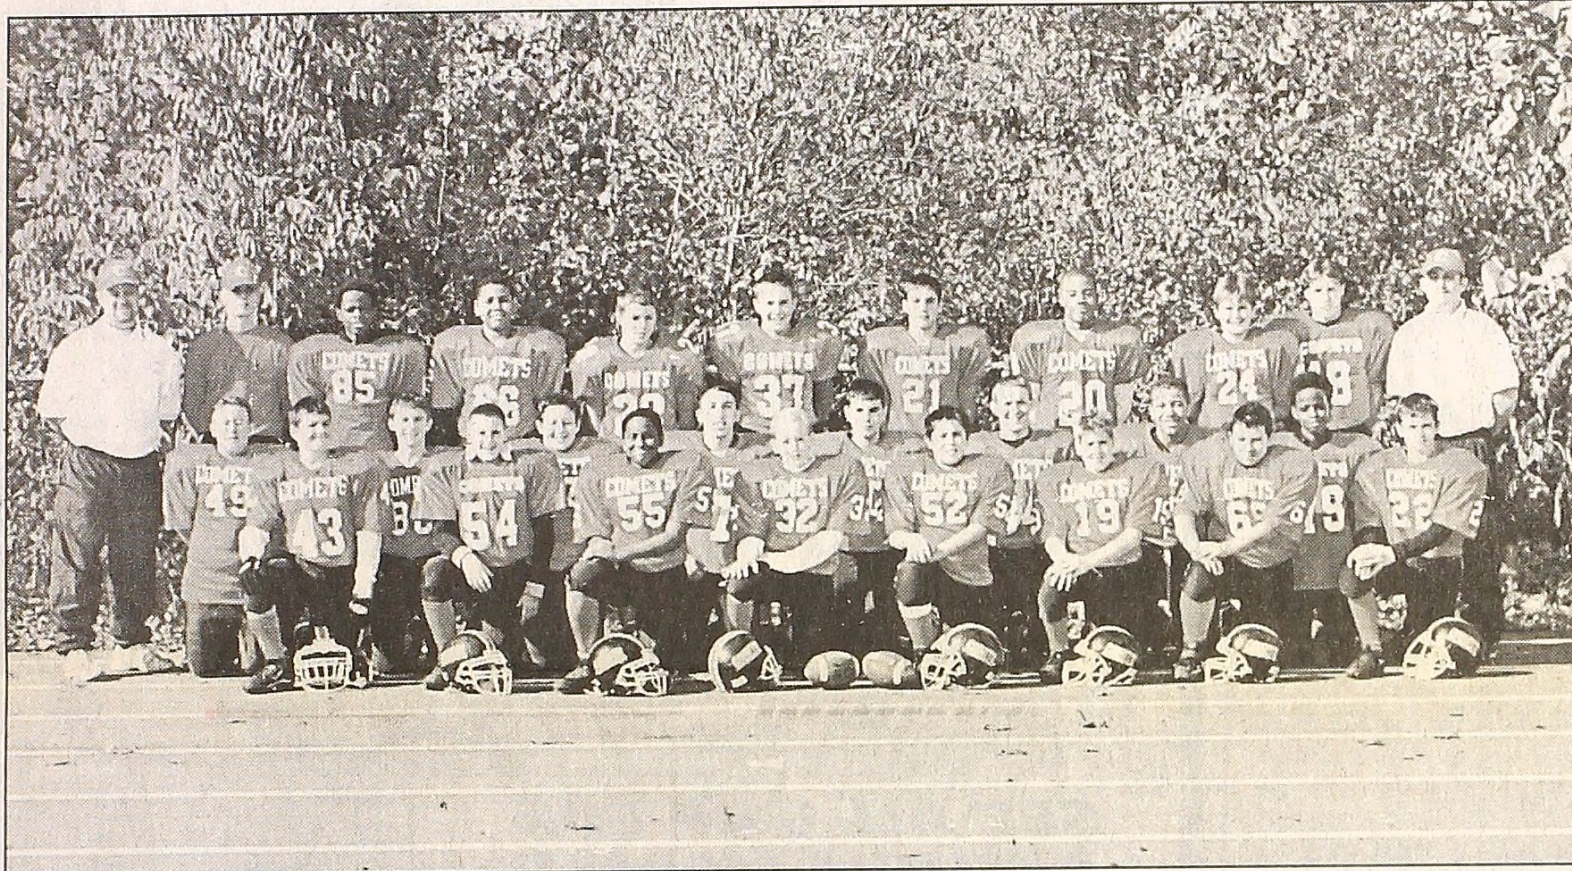

But, with a selected few players out of town for the Thanksgiving Holidays and not available for photos, and with the Michigan Community Newspapers' philosophy not to publish an All-Area Team without "all" of the players intact, the 2001 All-Area has been put on hold until next week.

The good news is - and the players who were selected know it - that everyone is now accounted for. So, next week (really) look for the MCN Team.

Also, the MCN has its Coach of the Year.

No, we're not going to reveal names and schools now - but we'll put up the MCN Team and Coach of the Year against a so-called "Dream Team in the state.

Comets shine in super bowl

The Westland Comets, under the direction of rookie head coach Eric Buchanan and assistants Jerry Farrar and Todd Kangas, and field director Gary Korpai, culminated an exciting season with an enviable 9-1 won-lost record which included a heart-pounding 6-0 victory over the Belleville Cougars in the Western Suburban Junior Football League Super Bowl. Members of the Comets include: Shawn Murphy, Michael Brady, Justin Samland, Justin Mendez, Quentin Herbert, Greg Copeland, Zach Toarmina, Alex Hudson, Phillip Troy, Chris Hylton, Tom Collier, Jeremel Ducharme, Jordan Kelly, Rowdy Wilson, Justin Korpai, Derek Palac, Wesley Wallace, Oscar Martinez, Michael Poore, Antonio Reedus, Di'Angelo Reedus, Donald Woodman, Clint Serna, Matt Barnier, Stephen Thorne and Billy Fallow.

Bellville wrestler among top 25

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

A Belleville wrestler is ranked among the top 25 female wrestlers in the state of Michigan for the 2001-2002 season.

The honor goes to Heather Updyke, who wrestles in the 114-pound weight category. Heather is a junior and has caught the eyes of the United States Girls' Wrestling Association which ranks female wrestlers in the state as well as across the nation.

Updyke could be a possible U. S. Olympic Team member as the IOC - the International Olympic Committee - announced recently that women's wrestling will be added to the 2004 Olympic Games.

The IOC has awarded Athens, Greece, the city that gave birth to the Olympics, the Games in 2004.

The 2001-2002 season will open locally for USGWA fans on Dec. 28 with the season opener "Girl Grappler" American Classic to be hosted by Richmond High School.

Over 1,000 actual girls weights were used to establish the "high school age" division girls weight classes, according to USGWA officials who pointed out that "only the elementary school age division will use 'blocked weights' in 2001-2002.

The distinction of being named the No. 1 ranked female wrestler in the state this season goes to Keristen LaBelle, of Lapeer West, a senior who competes in the 105-pound category.

Wayne Wolves seek ball players

Although most of us have allowed baseball to slip to the backburner, there is one local organization that is thinking baseball before the snow flies..

The Wayne Wolves are seeking young ball players for their lineup for the 2002 season.

Club officials say that they are looking for players, 16 and under, and 14 and under, for their travel teams. Tryouts will be staged this spring, but officials say that they would like to make contact with those who are in the those groups and plan to play competitive baseball next summer.

The two teams travel out of state and are invited to play in some of the nation's most prestigious tournaments for those age groups.

For further information and to learn when and where the tryouts will be held, prospective ball players are invited to call Bill at 313-562-4667 (for the 14 and under age group) and to contact Lou at 734-595-2975 for the 16 and older team.

'Michigan Cup' fans say 'thanks' for the coverage

The junior golf season and tournaments may be history, but the director of the Michigan Cup tournament, Jeff Bradley, apparently has not forgotten the coverage the local newspaper afforded the group.

Here's what Bradley has to write.

Dear Mr. Mooradian:

I wanted to send this letter thanking you and the Michigan Community Newspapers for your support of The Michigan Cup Junior Golf Association this year.

The program would not have been the same without your weekly coverage of our tournaments.

The golfers who participated in the tournaments, along with their parents, appreciated the opportunity to see their names and faces in print.

Once again, thanks for making our program a success this year. May God bless you and your family and the MCN family this holiday season and throughout the year."

Franklin captures title in soccer

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Allowing only an incredible three goals during an outstanding season, Franklin Middle School captured the 2001 sixth grade boys' soccer championship.

The Hornets, coach by Joel Lloyd, posted a 6-1-1 overall record in winning their first-ever title in the sport.

"We're very proud of the team, in general, and proud of each player specifically for their accomplishments this season," Lloyd offered. "They are a credit to their school."

Meteors Junior Varsity win Super Bowl title

The Super Bowl was staged earlier this month at Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

Earlier, the Meteors defeated the Ypsilanti Braves, 19-14, in the first round of the playoff series.

The Meteors are coached by veteran grid strategist Rick Foy, who is in his 28th year of coaching.

Foy is assisted by assistant coaches Dennis Edwards, Pete Davenport, Byron Mullins and Ed Roach.

Members of the 2001 Meteor Junior Varsity Super Bowl champions, who posted a 9-1 overall record, include: David George, Leonard Linton, Michael Elliott, Syven

Parker, Lonnie Lawrence, D'Angelo Boston, Jarriel Gogins, Rodrick Walker, Rodney Donald, Jr., and Jarrel White.

Also members of the championship team are Dwayne Davenport, Shawn Smith, Philip Johnson, Eric Robertson, T. J. Gunter, Brandon Mullins, Jack Muncie, Adrian Chambers, Jack Ward, Adam Weaver, Tadarius Davenport, E. J. Roach, Jajuan Whitlow, Anthony Alexander, Curtis Guyton and Michael Gardner.

Westland's WYAA to elect new slate of officers

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

The Westland Youth Athletic Association announced this week that they will hold its annual General Membership and election of the WYAA's Board of Directors at 7:30 p.m. on Dec. 6 at the Lange Compound.

"The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers for the upcoming year," stressed Keith DeMolay, WYAA publicist. "We're inviting all members - new and old - to attend this very important meeting."

The Lange Compound is located at 6050 Farmington Road, about two blocks north of Ford Road.

WYAA fields teams in football, basketball, baseball and softball and is one of the oldest youth athletic associations in the Western Wayne County.

The Dec. 6 meeting also includes a review of the past year's achievements and projections for the 2002 season.

Members who have questions are urged to contact the Lange Compound during regular business hours by dialing 734-421-0640.

Basketball registration continues

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Westland Youth Athletic Association officials announced this week that they are accepting registration for the organization's 2001-2002 basketball season.

Registration will be conducted from 7 to 9 p.m. on Wednesdays and from 10 a.m. until noon on Saturdays at the Lange Compound, located at 6050 Farmington Road, two blocks north of Ford Road, in Westland.

Players may sign up for the "Right-Start Division", ages 7 and 8; Freshmen, 9-10 year-olds; Junior Varsity, 11-12 year olds; Varsity, ages 13 and 14, and Seniors, ages 15 through 17.

WYAA fields both girls and boys' leagues.

For further information please contact the WYAA during regular business hours, Monday through Friday, at 734-421-0640.

Last call for winter schedules

By TOM MOORADIAN
MCN Staff Writer

Can you believe that the high school basketball season begins next week?

It's true. The 2001-2002 prep hoops action gets underway locally and across the state on Tuesday for most of the local teams.

And, to help the Michigan Community Newspapers' Sports' Staff cover the local scene, we're looking for those few winter sports schedules that have not yet been faxed to the MCN sports desk.

If there is a new varsity coach, we're requesting that ADs also include his - or her - home telephone number with the schedule

MCN will wrap up the 2001 football year next week with its annual All-Area picks.

Coaches or athletic directors who have questions are urged to call the MCN Sports Desk by dialing 734-729-4000.
